The Yukon General Election held November 20, 1978, was the first election in twenty-four years to be administered locally under Yukon legislation. Following the 1954 election, elections were conducted under the Canada Elections Act and administrative responsibility was transferred to the Chief Electoral Officer of Canada.

As the years passed it became evident that a positive step in the constitutional development of Yukon would be to resume this function. Accordingly, the 23rd Legislative Assembly passed the Elections Ordinance, 1977, which established the necessary legal basis for the local administration of elections.

Pursuant to this ordinance an Elections Board was appointed and given responsibility for the general direction of and supervision over the elections process. The Board, appointed May 16, 1978, is comprised of Chairman Paul Birckel of Whitehorse, Mary McCulloch of Watson Lake and Richard Wallingham of Mayo. The Board hired W.H. "Bill" MacDonald of Ladysmith, B.C. to act as Administrator of Elections and, as such, to carry on the day-to-day activities assigned by the Board.

In 1974, twelve Members were returned to the Legislature. However, as an additional constitutional measure, the 23rd Legislative Assembly increased the number of seats to sixteen. The election itself was of historic significance due to the emergence of party politics on a formal basis for the first time.

The Elections Board would like to extend its thanks to Mr. MacDonald, the sixteen Returning Officers and all other election officials for their very commendable work which they undertook both efficiently and cheerfully.

Paul Birckel, Chairman
Yukon Elections Board
